Dunlap Mines.

Special to the News:

J. S. Hoffecker, of New York, Samuel Trump, of Wilmington, and D. R. Lament, of Albany, N. Y., owners of the Dunlap coal mines, passed through the city yesterday en route to the mines. These mines have been idle for some time and the above named gentlemen will place them in operation as soon as possible. The mines have a large capacity and the promoters are of the opinion that they will prove a great success. It is stated that the advance in the price of coal is the prime cause of the opening of the mines.—Chattanooga Times.

J. S. Hoffecker, of New York, D. R. Lament, of Albany, N. Y., and Samuel N. Trump, of Wilmington, Del., stockholders of the Dunlap Coal & Coke Co., were in the city Friday and Saturday inspecting the mines recently opened on Cumberland Mountain. We understand they expressed themselves as well pleased and it is likely enough that business will open in earnest in a short while. It would not surprise us to see a branch road to the foot of the mountain commenced any fine morning.—Dunlap Tribune.

We hope to see these mines in full running order in a short while and already there are contracts out for timber to build inclines, etc.

O. R. BLALOCK.

Spain's Greatest Need.

Mr. R. P. Oliva, of Barcelona, Spain, spends his winters at Aiken, S. C. Weak nerves had caused severe pains in the back of his head. On using Electric Bitters, America's greatest blood and nerve remedy, all pain soon left him. He says this grand medicine is what his country needs. All America knows that it cures liver and kidney trouble, purifies the blood, tones up the stomach, strengthens the nerves, put vim, vigor and new life into every muscle, nerve and organ of the body. If weak, tired or ailing you need it. Every bottle guaranteed only 50 cents. Sold by W. B. Kettner, Whitwell, and all dealers.

Showers along the French Broad river greatly aided the crops.

Buried at Laconia.

Laconia, N. H., Sept. 6.—The train bearing the remains of Clarence H. Pearson, reached this place on Monday last at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. It was met by a large number of his relatives and friends, also by representatives of the Belknap County Bar, of which he has been an honored member, and by a large delegation representing the Pilgrim Fathers, an association of which Mr. Pearson was a charter member, it having been organized in 1887 when he resided here. The body was immediately conveyed to the cemetery, escorted by the Bar and followed by a long procession of carriages containing relatives and friends, attended by the respectful sympathy of the entire community. With brief burial services the body was committed to the grave just as the sun of a beautiful day was sinking to rest. Thus as he himself had desired his body was laid at rest in the family lot at Laconia, beside many friends who had gone before.

Memorial services will be held at a future day in the Unitarian Church, the date of which has not yet been fixed. It will be very agreeable to his friends here to have similar services held at Sequachee at the same hour. Due notice will be given.

A circus has been secured as one of the attractions for the carnival at Jellico on September 3rd.

The Census of 1900.

On July the first, 1900, an army of over twenty-five thousand men will start out through the country with prepared tablets to count Uncle Sam's children. The coming census will be remarkable in that it will be the first count of the inhabitants of our new territory of Hawaii and Puerto Rico, perhaps of the Philippines also, for the end of the war is not far off, and the form of government to be given to these islands will be of our own choosing. Just how much land we have gained by recent acquisitions is easily ascertained by reference to a geography, but how many people became subjects of this government will not be known until the census gatherers have made their returns. It will require something like a week for each of the gatherers to secure all the names and statistical information of his district, and for this he will receive from $50 to $150, according to the sparsity or density of the population, which regulates the amount of work. In addition to these enumerators there will be an office force in Washington of half as many more men and women whose duty it will be to sort and tabulate the information forwarded by the outside workers. In all, the census will require the services of forty thousand people. This seems an immense force, but it must be borne in mind that there are something like seventy-five million people about each of whom there are about a dozen pieces of information to be tabulated, and that these people are scattered over about four millions of square miles of the earth's surface. Thus forty thousand census statisticians does not seem an extravagant arrangement. It is said to have taken seven years to complete the reports of the eleventh census, and that of 1880 was not all printed until 1890. But congress, in providing for this enumeration, stipulated that the four principal reports—those on population, mortality, agriculture and manufactures—should be completed in 1902. A thousand clerks are to be set to work on these branches as soon as the returns reach the office, but even that force would be incompetent to deal with the matter in the required time were it not for the use of certain tabulating and statistical machines which have been invented especially for this purpose. These will greatly accelerate the work. This is the twelfth regular census of the United States, and if faithfully taken, which it will doubtless be, many questions will be settled, notably those of the increase by immigration, and the decadence or progress of the negroes in the South. The director of the census is Mr. Wm. R. Merriam, ex-governor of Minnesota, but the chief work of preparing statistics for the press will be in the hands of Assistant Director Frederick H. Wines, who has under him five chief experts to each of whom he will assign a department.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

Sardis Picnic.

The picnic of the Sardis Sunday School at Brown's Grove Victoria, Saturday, was a success in every particular and everyone expressed themselves as well pleased with the day. There was a large number of people in attendance and they listened attentively to the excellent addresses and good singing. The program as published in the News last week was practically carried out as printed, and there was absolutely nothing to mar the enjoyment of the day. Refreshments were on sale for the benefit of the Sunday School under charge of Messrs. William Long and Henry Harris, who have the thanks of the Sunday School for their disinterested attention.

Public School.

The public school is filling up rapidly. People appreciate the advantage of primary and secondary school at home. The people are taking greater interest in their school than ever before and by their frequent visits show their desire for the progress of their children. We have a public school which gives an education sufficient for ordinary business at our door eight months in every year and it is growing in favor. Mr. L. W. Gabel is the visitor for this week.

Handle Works.

The work on the building is going on steadily. The sides are boarded in and the workmen are putting on the roof this week.

Mr. John M. Messick, superintendent, and Mr. G. Sherman, agent, went to Chattanooga Friday and purchased engine and boiler. The machinery we understand has been bought.

Mr. Messick hopes to have the plant in operation by Oct. 10.

A WELCOME INVITATION.

You are invited to go to W. A. Turner's at Victoria. He has just opened a New Stock of goods of all kinds in General Merchandise at his old stand near depot.

YOU are not asked to buy unless you can save money by so doing.

Be your own judge, examine my goods and prices and if I do not save you money, then don't purchase.

My goods will not be misrepresented to you. Everything I have in stock will be sold at a small profit. We will not cut a few articles below cost and then rob you with high prices on the other goods that you may want. I only want a small, honest profit. I am not in business to make "big money". Just a small living and I am satisfied. I don't ask you for all your trade, but if you will only give me a show you will always find my prices from 10 to 20 per cent. cheaper than elsewhere, and goods found just as recommended or money refunded.

We could take the time to give you prices, but reading about prices is of no avail. When you examine goods and see what they are that is the time to get the price. Talk is cheap but it takes money to buy.
